

News from ASEQ-EHAQ

Exciting Updates from ASEQ-EHAQ – Advocacy, Events, and Membership Opportunities

Dear Members and friends,

We're thrilled to share some exciting news and updates with you as we continue working together to advocate for change and raise awareness about Multiple Chemical Sensitivity (MCS).

1. Submission to the United Nations State Report on Multiple Chemical Sensitivity (MCS)

ASEQ-EHAQ has proudly submitted a report on MCS to the United Nations as part of their State Reporting Process. This milestone highlights the challenges faced by individuals with MCS and calls for greater international recognition and action. Our submission is published on the OHCHR website.

2. Annual General Meeting

Mark your calendars for our Annual General Meeting (AGM) on March 21, 2025. This is your opportunity to learn about our achievements over the past year and our plans for the future. Stay tuned for details via email.

3. International Conference on MCS – Resilience

We are gearing up for our 2-day International Conference on MCS happening on May 1 and 2, 2025. With Day 1 dedicated to biological research and Day 2 exploring human rights, qualitative insights, and advocacy, this promises to be an impactful event. For more details, visit our conference page here.

4. Upcoming Events

Keep an eye on your inbox for details about upcoming workshops, webinars, and focus groups. We're excited to bring you more opportunities to engage, learn, and advocate for healthier, more inclusive spaces.

5. Are You a Member?

We're happy to have you on our email list, but have you considered becoming a member? By joining ASEQ-EHAQ, you're supporting critical work in advocacy, research, and education across Canada and beyond. Membership comes with benefits like access to resources, exclusive events, and the opportunity to make a meaningful difference.

By joining ASEQ-EHAQ you automatically become a member of the Canada group and help us create change not only in Canada but around the world. Together, we can achieve a future where MCS is understood, recognized, and accommodated.

Thank you for your continued support, and we look forward to staying connected as we work toward our shared goals.

Warm wishes,

Rohini Peris, President and CEO

Michel Gaudet, Executive Director